ATTENDANCE IS INCREASED AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Faculty Sponsors Drive To Increase Number at Bible Study

New Classes Begun Social Clubs Co-operate With Administration In This Effort

Unusually large attendance at Sunday school no January 12 was the result of an extended effort to increase the number at Bible study. An enrollment of 211 was reported by the teachers at the close of the classes.

Newly appointed teachers assisted the regular teachers with the work. The teachers, both new and old, were J. N. Armstrong for the adult class, B. F. Rhodes, L. C. Sears, John Copeland, and Mrs. Florence M. Cathcart for college students, Mrs. J. N. Armstrong for high school students, and Misses Pearl Conway and Janis Neal for the elementary groups.

The class taught by Mrs. Cathcart is one for young women who are preparing themselves for Bible school teachers in their home communities.

As is the regular custom, all assembled as one group in the auditorium before going to class rooms, the college students to rooms in the administration building, the high school to one of the high school rooms. The adult class remained in the auditorium.

At the conclusion of the study the classes reassembled in the auditorium where the services were concluded by a song and prayer and the attendance report made by the leader, Earl B. Smith.

Some of the social clubs were present one hundred per cent except for those absent on account of sickness. The presence of the Cavaliers was especially noticeable as they came as one body. The Sub-T's lacked only one member. All of the O. G.'s were also present.

New Students Are Enrolled This Term

Several new students enrolled in Harding at the beginning of the winter term. Most of these new students were freshmen. Also there were three former students who returned.

The new students are Bernelle and Robert Anthony, Enola; Arthur Capps, Wellington, Texas; Howard Daniel Collins, Belle Plaine, Kansas; W. B. Hancock, Galena, Missouri; Thomas Ladd, Judsonia; Gladstone Waller, Mangum, Oklahoma; Samuel Vincent, Rector; and Winnie McGiboney, Nency Redus, and Sylvia Turley, Searcy.

The former students who returned this term are Virginia Hudkins, Campbell, Missouri; Ralph McClure, Nashville; and Carria Shock, Enola.

Actions Speak Louder Than Words In Making New Year's Resolutions

"What resolutions did you make," asked the reporter of everyone she met.

"None," or, "I resolved to make no more resolutions," was usually the answer. But after closely observing people, the reporter could tell that some of them had made resolutions, but were too timid to say so. For instance:

1. Bro. Armstrong must have resolved to see that all of his students attend classes more regularly.
2. Miss Conway resolved that ignorance shall be no excuse for disobeying the house rules.
3. Dean Sears resolved that he would do a little more work than he did last term. (He's teaching Browning and Shakespeare now.)
4. Mr. Stapleton resolved that his students should not and could not make "hay" while the sun shines or while it is raining in his classes.
5. Mrs. Stapleton resolved that the Press club would be a little quieter while in session. (But Gene Pace, Clifford Cronin, Charles

Coleman, Pursley, Paine and McNeelis Are Harding's "Who's Who" Representatives

Eloise Coleman

Dona Pursley

Gertrude Paine

Eunice McNeelis

Harding College will have four representatives in this year's publication of "Who's Who Among College Students." This is the first volume of the publication which plans to place outstanding college students before the world.

The representatives are seniors who have high scholarship, show leadership, and are prominent in extra-curricula activities. Eloise Coleman, Dona Pursley, Gertrude Paine, and Eunice McNeelis were chosen by the faculty to receive this honor.

These four girls are members of the Petit Jean staff and have done work on the Bison as well as having been outstanding in other activities.

Intra-Club Debate Tourney Scheduled

Encouraging the movement for an increase in intra-mural literary activities at Harding is the scheduled intra-club debate tournament between the boys' social clubs. The tournament is tentatively scheduled for March 3 and 4.

Each of the six clubs will enter two teams—one affirmative and one negative which will act as one team. Competent judges will be selected from outstanding professional men from town and local college professors.

Representatives from each boys' club met with Coach L. C. Sears Thursday afternoon, January 9 to form rules and regulations and adopt a question. The intercollegiate question, "Resolved that Congress should have the power to override by a two-thirds majority vote any decision of the Supreme Court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional," was adopted.

Summitt Changes Absence Checking

Method Used Last Term Proved to Be Too Inefficient

To increase the efficiency of checking the absences from chapel, a new system has been adopted.

Dr. W. K. Summitt still has charge of the checking. This term he has all the seats checked by Misses Anna Grace Tackett and Nell Garner who find the absent person from the chapel roll and then make the report to him.

Last term he had several students assisting him in this work. Each student was responsible for three rows of seats which he checked daily. But Dr. Summitt said this method did not work as it should have.

"Our purpose in changing the system is to try to make a closer check and prevent so many unexcused absences," is his exact statement.

Instead of having a committee decide whether an absence is excused or unexcused as was done last term, each teacher will make this decision for his own classes.

Excusable absences, as decided by faculty, are for illness, work called for by the college and signed by an official, preaching trips which are not supposed to include anything by Saturday afternoon, and trips representing the school.

College Debaters To Finish Contest

Hughes and Whitten to Complete Tournament In Little Rock

Woodrow Whitten and Edwin Hughes will meet the Henderson State Teachers College debaters at Little Rock next Saturday, January 18 to decide which team will meet Arkansas State Teachers College in the finals.

legue in the finals. during the tournament held here when it was discovered that Harding and Henderson had debated with only two judges present and each team received a vote.

Tournament authorities decided that these two teams should again debate at Little Rock in the presence of new judges.

Arkansas College of Batesville placed first and second in the Women's division of the tournament. These two teams were the semi-final winners and were awarded the cups without a final round.

Faculty Selects Ranking Students

Harding College Seniors to Appear in College Who's Who Representing Harding College in this year's publication of "Who's Who Among College Students" will be Dona Pursley, Eunice McNeelis, Gertrude Paine, and Eloise Coleman. These students were selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and according to their participation in extra-curricula activities.

This is the first year that such a publication has been maintained and has for its purpose the encouragement of scholarship and leadership among college students. One of its main accomplishments will be that of placing outstanding students before the world.

Each college is permitted to select one student out of every hundred enrolled and only seniors are eligible.

In addition to having the scholarship requirements, Dona Pursley is known to be a leader among students, having been selected by the student body last year as best all 'round girl. This year she is editor of "The Petit Jean," the college year-book.

Also prominent on the campus is Eunice McNeelis. She was selected last year as favorite girl for the feature section of the annual. She is also business manager of the year-book.

Gertrude Paine was at one time selected as college honor student and has always been outstanding in dramatics, having played many leading roles and directed several productions.

An unusual scholar is Eloise Coleman. She has also been very active in press work and enjoys popularity and leadership as an instructor in the high school.

Special Courses Are Taught By Gillespie

Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, who has begun the winter classes in music, is offering several courses in this work. Aside from piano, are offered theoretical subjects, including harmony, counterpoint, sight-singing, and form and analysis. History of music, operatic training, and elementary public school methods of teaching are some other classes taught by Miss Gillespie.

Miss Gillespie is a graduate of the Nashville Conservatory of Music, and has received high recommendations from G. S. de Luca, president of the conservatory.

Oratorical Contest Is Being Planned

Plans for the second annual oratorical contest, sponsored by the Press Club, are being made. Any young man who wishes to compete in this contest should submit his name to Charles Pitner, business manager of the Bison, and pay the 25 cents required as an entrance fee in order to buy the rewards.

The rules for the contest as announced are that each person without assistance write the speech which he delivers. The speeches are to be written upon a subject of the contestant's own choosing, to contain not over two hundred words of quoted matter and not to exceed ten minutes in length.

The preliminary contest has been tentatively scheduled to be held Tuesday afternoon, February 25. The finals will be held the following Thursday evening. Only the five best contestants will be allowed to enter the finals.

Two Mice Find Girls' Building Likeable Place

A very popular little freshie girl arrived back from the holidays a little later than some of her friends. A few of her dear boy friends, decided that they would give her a Christmas present.

Three of the boys spent two hours catching two mice. The poor little mice were put in a cigar box and given to a certain girl for her to wrap nicely and deliver to the freshie.

The young lady put the box upside down on the bed and told her roommates not to look in it. As soon as her back was turned, curiosity got the best of one of the girls, and she looked into—an empty box. The bright young lady had cut air holes for the mice, and the mice had finished the job.

The occupants of the suite feared the worst, and the worst came. About 1:00 a. m. one of the girls yelled, "That rat's in the bed with me."

The other girls awoke and all were entertained in the wee hours of the morning by the noise of the mice as they cut all the paper in the waste baskets and ran back and forth from one room to the other with their shrieks of delight.

Sailors Have Unique Club Meeting And Hold Own Who's Who Contest

Strange things can happen at a club meeting and a strange thing did happen at a Sub-T meeting the other night. Just for fun—a who's who contest was held. But there was not so much fun in finding out that your fellow club members thought you the ugliest one among them as did Bruce Barton. (That's okay, Buzz, Nancy think's you're goodlooking!)

Anyway Fletcher Floyd won by one vote over Bruce for the most handsome—not much of a margin. But strange as it may seem Bruce was then voted the ugliest.

Woodrow Whitten ranked high for the most dignified. Charles Pitner nosed out Bill Medearis for the best ladies man, but Bill came back strong for the best dressed.

While the clubbers were debating whether Fletcher Floyd's ears were bigger than O. P.'s, Wallis Beasley and his ears stepped in and took away the prize. Sure enough. Wallis' ears are growing and whose wouldn't when such nice things are being said about them?

PEP RALLY IS SPONSORED BY STUDENT BODY

Meeting Is Held Under Leadership of James D. Bales

Select Pep Leaders Representatives From Clubs Make Peppy Speeches

Under the leadership of James Bales, the student body entered into the first major pep meeting of the year following the regular chapel exercises Thursday, January 9. Bales opened the meeting with a firing speech that filled the group with enthusiasm and created a stronger desire for more school spirit.

Following Bales' opening remarks, W. F. Anderson, representative of the T. N. T. club, made a stirring appeal to the student body for their entire cooperation in supporting the athletic contests and all other college activities. He pointed out that we need to awake ourselves and enter into the contests with more life.

Eugene Pace, representing the Cavaliers, emphasized that in past years Harding had been able to maintain basket ball and base ball on a rather small amount of money and at the same time had had the support of the student body. His point was, since this is true, with the backing of the student body at the games and with the money received from athletic fees this year, Harding should make a great progress with athletics.

The Kionionia club, through their speaker, Glenn Johnson, aroused further interest by their appeal for individual enthusiasm and support for the basketball team, pointing out that it is playing for Harding and deserves our cooperation.

Representing the Lamba Sigmas, James McDaniel told the group to lay aside all timidity and not be afraid to yell at the game.

Cloves Kirk assured the other clubs that the Calliopeans were enthusiastic and ready to enter into the spirit of the contests.

In short, peppy, speeches, many of the girls showed their cooperation and desire for an one hundred per cent support for the basket ball team.

All the speeches and remarks were heartily endorsed by the student body and applause and cheers were continuous during the entire meeting.

The meeting was climaxed with the unanimous selection of Charles Paine, Glenn Johnson, Bill Tomlinson, and Johnny Kirk, as cheer leaders for the year.

The following Friday morning after the devotional exercises the cheer leaders led the student body in several yells and pep songs in preparation for the ball game that night.

ORGANIZE A SCHOLARSHIP CLUB!

Why not adopt the proposal made by Dr. Coons and organize a scholarship club? Not too much emphasis is being placed on extra-curricula activities but not enough is put on scholarship attainments. The objection that we already have enough clubs cannot be made if a real need exists for another one. Does that need exist? It does if the honorary club—for that must be its nature—offers desirable advantages.

Five suggested advantages of the scholarship club are these: (1) It will, because of its selective and honorary nature, provide a strong incentive to students for scholastic attainment; (2) It will give recognition to those who do make outstanding scholastic records; (3) It will offer a splendid opportunity for the proposal and effecting of projects to create more incentive toward scholarship in the student body; (4) It will cement even closer the faculty and student body; and (5) It will be the groundwork of what may later develop into a chapter of some national scholarship organization.

These are but suggestions of a few of the desirable effects to be had by a scholarship club at Harding. Let the student body back the movement and see that as soon as mature and careful details can be worked out, the club is organized.

STUDENTS, THAT WAS GOOD!

Students, keep up the work that we started at the basketball game against Arkansas College. You do not know how much our support helped the basketball players. It makes them appreciate us and feeling like putting out everything they have and then it makes us feel better too. We have made a good start. Let's keep it up.

OPPORTUNITY FOR EFFICIENCY

We do not grow efficient in a day. Neither do we grow into that fitness necessary for carrying our part of the great responsibilities of life. Yet—though strange it may seem—we students are not using our opportunities to grow. Sometimes we may be tempted to criticize the man who has been successful in life—before we do let us not forget to look over our own lives. If we do this we will find inefficiency proclaiming itself from every nook and corner of our being. Luck, says one, of the successful person. Perhaps. If we would but look more closely we should probably see that that person had faithfully carried out those small things. These small jobs are the stepping stones to Success. Yet—why—do we rush through our jobs here at college so haphazardly? Whether we work on the Self-Help or in the Business office let's give more earnest effort to doing the job the best that it can be done—or at least as well as we can do it. Give a person a job so small as sweeping leaves and we can almost prognosticate his future success. If he does it well he is ten-fold more ahead in the race than the average. Do we see the view? Doesn't this apply to you?

With Other Colleges

The pioneer spirit is not yet dead in New England. Sixty-five co-eds are out for the rifle team at the University of Vermont.

School spirit certainly predominates the students and faculty members of the Louisiana State University. An official announcement was made by the president before the institution's Thanksgiving game declaring that classes would be dismissed an extra day if the game was won. The score: L. S. U. 40, Tulane 0.

His psychology professor attempted to hypnotize one of the students for a demonstration during a lecture. He was unsuccessful, and was about to give up when he noticed that one of them had gone into a trance. When the victim refused to respond to normal treatment, the professor prescribed exercise and normal activity, and for three days he was walked about the campus, taken for rides, and to the movies. Some fun, eh what!—College Chatter.

HEAR AND THEIR

By Charles Paine and J. D. Bales

In Press Club Mrs. Stapleton told Clifford Cronin to hold his hands still. He didn't seem to be able to do so, so Frances Little offered to hold them for him. We were shocked at first but then we recalled that it is leap year. She surely is taking advantage of every little opportunity.

Here is a bit of tragedy, Otis Sharp, retired president of the Callipeans, went home and took the Constitution with him. He said it was his. We guess that they'll have to have another constitutional convention.

It surely looks like old times when we see Frances Elliott and Weldon Lacy strolling about the campus again. Too bad, Frances, that he can't stay awhile.

It seems that the bachelor club's ranks has been enlarged recently by the addition of several "exiles."

We already have report of some of Granville Tyler's escapades over the holidays, among the many reports received was one that he was married; and another one said he had been arrested. Let's hope the first report was not true.

Quoting Bro. Armstrong, "Feathers of a bird flock together." He's right—they would look sort of funny scattered.

Robert Taylor and Thomas (Peeled Onion-Frankenstein) Howell have had their heads together and it looks as if the result may be a new boys club. Wonder what they will call it. "The Bald Knob Singing Society?"

It looks as if Dr. Orrok has found out what these campus swings are really for. Did you learn any French, Frances Colson? Or are you giving him a course in Campusology.

We hereby decline any and all bids for the Presidency of the Scholarship Club.

Clifford Cronin, who were the two blondes that you had surrounded at the ball game? It seems to us as if you are getting too popular. Guess you'll have to develop some of Sears' sales resistance.

My brother Clayton was wondering if there would be any good looking girls by the time that he gets out here—guess we had better put Sally Porter on cold storage for him.

We do not know much about the difference in the sweetness of syrup but we wish that W. F. Anderson would tell us which one of the Maple girls is the sweetest.

WAR IS GLORY?

Awake! Awake! Oh fleet of Beauty—
There is mutiny in your ranks!
How sail you on so smoothly?
Are you not aware
That one within your fleet patrol flies false colors?
You, the sole patrol of the Sea of Hope.
Her navigator, Captain Contentment, has been slain.
Foul pirate, Greed is at her helm—
Bribed by cankered gold.
He it is who would sever allegiance to thee
And steer the good ship "Glory" to a foreign, uncharted sea.
Fear not for the reef and rock opinion—
He will steer—for he has been there before.

Give him your sons, oh land.
The redeeming treasure of your heart and hand!
Teach them well his knowledge—hast thou forgotten God?
Yes, the ship will return flying the flag of "Glory"—
But, alas, alas! Greed was at the helm.
Where is your investment, oh land?
Sorrow in the heart—no more shall hand meet hand!
More cankered gold—gory gold—is in the hold and all is well.
Gory gold: the wage of Glory.
For Greed was at the wheel.

POTPOURRI

To keep it going we pass the old gag: "If all the New Year's resolutions were laid end to end, they would be—broken."

Math majors, how is this for an equation: Possibilities minus inertia equals failure? Erick without "mortar" will not erect the structure. Work is the "mortar" which causes possibilities to become actualities—true in school work too.

Solved: What causes indigestion? It is simply the inability of a round stomach to adjust itself to a square meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Pate of Wood River, Illinois, who named their 15th child "Finis," have decided there is nothing in a name, and call their 16th "Epilogue"—for euphony's sake.

On receipt of the fall term grades, a number will learn that a reputation like a gas tank just goes so far without a refill.

Of unquestionable value to Harding students would be the "waking up" service which is now being offered to Columbia University students by a fellow student, Harold Jesurum. The Jesurum treatment which is dedicated to "late risers" and "class dosers" consists of a phial of ammonium chloride, previously treated with sodium byoroxide, to obtain the gas. A few whiffs of that and the patient is wide awake.

With apology to our fellow eds I guess a good resolution for the "scandal" writer is "to hue jealousy to the white skirts of veracity" in reporting his findings.

We seriously object to the movement on foot to change the name of our column to "Pot likker."

Mental lethargy is that vague quality possessed in such abundance at "test" time but which we all resolve now to eliminate entirely from our system.

An informal reception was given in the boys' reception room Friday evening, January 3, by Janis Neal in honor of Weldon Lacy and Burney Bawcom who were visiting at Harding.

Other guests were Frances Elliott, Charleen Powell, Beaulious Binion, Dorothy Evans, Bernelle Anderson, H. T. Karnes, Jess Anderson, Woodrow Whitten, and O. P. Baird.

Some changes have been made in the high school faculty of Harding for the winetr term. Prof. L. E. Pryor is teaching English C, Ernestine Copeland is giving speech lessons, Dona Pursley is instructing bookkeeping, and James Bales is teaching Bible, succeeding Harold Kennamer.

Plans for the second term were discussed at a meeting of the freshman class, Thursday night, January 9. A committee was appointed for the purpose of collecting the dues for the term. The class voted to meet the first Tuesday night of every month at 6:30 o'clock. Before adjourning the new members were introduced to the class.

Theodore King has been elected vice-president of the Lambda Sigma club to take Arley Moore's place. Walter Southern was elected doorman.

Misses Margaret Howell and Mary and Lutie Neal, Jack Wood and Kern Sears, Mrs. Florence Cathcart, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Stapleton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Coons gave a wedding dinner during the holidays for Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Maxwell, former teachers at Harding.

The Cavalier Club was entertained by Owen Pearce and Frank Headlee at the home of Owen Monday night, January 6. Ice cream, cake, and candy was served after the regular minutes of the meeting had been attended to. After this Owen provided other entertainment by rendering a few selections on his clarinet.

J. Harvey Dykes of Wichita, Kansas spoke at the regular chapel assembly January 4. He used the theme of "It's Nobody's Business," citing instances of the modern trend of society. Drunkenness and high-speed motoring were especially emphasized and their effects shown plainly as the outgrowth of the "It's Nobody's Business" spirit.

Carroll Cannon of Saratoga was winner of the Truthseeker contest sponsored by R. N. Gardner. Carroll sold 36 subscriptions and was awarded the five dollar prize in addition to the regular commission.

High School Sunday School Class Discusses Topics

At the Monday night meeting last night Mrs. J. N. Armstrong's Sunday school class presided. This class is composed of boys of high school age.

The subject they discussed was "The Problems of the Modern Youth and How to Solve Them." This was also the topic that this class discussed the week before.

Each member of the class was given an opportunity to make a speech, lead in singing, or lead in prayer. Their talks were interesting and beneficial to all.

The purpose of this class is to develop young men so that they will be able to do public work in the church or on mission fields.

Just Going In Circles Around The Buildings

Judging from the number of left-hand fingers I've seen incircled, some of the girls must be starting the new year off with a ring.

Can you imagine Brother Rhodes with a mustache?

It took James McDaniel over a week to realize that the ring Neva Maynard is wearing really means something. Now he says she is a "changed woman."

Have you noticed it too? Courtney seems like a new man since the recent visit of his one and only.

After hearing all those talks in Monday night meeting Zelma Bell concluded, "Those high school boys are just getting to know too much," and we are inclined to entirely agree with her.

It is being whispered around that the Sub-T's are going around with their fingers crossed. It seems that the girls are giving up the ship.

Stop me if you have heard this one: The other day when some one yelled "Man on third," Eunice McNellis came out and asked, "How in the world did you know that there were a bunch of old maids up here praying?"

College Boys Have Trained Their Wasps

Who say's the wasps aren't valuable? We could think that anything as plentiful as they are around the Boys' dormitory must be of some value.

In fact we even suspect that since they have heard "cooperation" and "responsibility" so much that they must have held a secret consultation in the Bales-Paine boudoir, their chief hangout, and decided to have the halls patrolled to protect "our boys." We say they a guardian have been present on must have done this else how could Meadaris' doorknob when our genial friend Ed approached with an order.

We regret that our super-jovial host should enjoy (?) such a reception. But really, how could we help it—the wasp thought he was a stranger! or maybe "Bill" had him trained for a detective.

BEAT COLLEGE OF THE OZARKS AND ARKANSAS STATE THIS WEEK

PANTHERS AND INDIANS DOWN BISON QUINTET

Herd Loses to Arkansas State By Score of 25 to 50

Bisons Play Well

Arkansas College Noses Out Harding Five 21 to 30

Playing two games in as many days, the Bisons lost two fast contests to Arkansas State and Arkansas College by 25 to 50 and 21 to 30 scores respectively last week. The first game, played in Jonesboro Friday night, went to the 1935 state runner-up quintet only after a brilliant last period rally. The two played on even terms throughout most of the first half but State drew ahead at its close to lead by a 22 to 16 score at the rest period.

As the second half opened, State launched a brilliant passing attack that swept the Herd off its feet and enabled the victors to score at ease most of the time. Attempting to curb the rally, both Johnson and Glen Trent, Bison guards, were emitted from the game via the foul route, weakening the defense of the Herd greatly.

Norris, State forward, led the individual scoring with 20 points. Albert Trent, rookie Bison forward, led his team in scoring with seven points.

Opening their home cage season the following night, the Bisons dropped a fast, well played game to the Arkansas College Panthers after an up-hill fight all of the way. Only once were the Bisons on the top and that was soon after the initial period opened. The Herd held its own most of the first counter, but Arkansas put on a scoring spree at its close. The Bisons were on the short end of a 9 to 17 count at the rest period.

Vaughn, promising Bison forward, opened the second half with a field goal and Captain Trent followed it with a free toss that sent the Herd into its longest rally of the contest. Displaying an air tight defense, the Herd held its opponents scoreless for almost half of the period but near its close the greater height of the Panthers enabled them to hold the lead they had piled up by the end of the first half.

R. Stewart, Arkansas forward, led the individual scoring with eight points and was closely followed by Vaughn, Bison forward, who paced his team with seven points.

The line-up, first game:
Harding: Arkansas State:
A. Trent 7 Norris 20
Smith 6 Baldwin 11

Arkansas—Himes 7.

Independent Five Defeats Harding

Varsity Basketeers Nosed Out By Staff-O-Life at Cabot

Seeking their first victory of the current season, the Bisons were downed by the Staff-O-Life Independent team by a 24 to 27 score Tuesday night, January 7, at Cabot. Jumping into the lead in the early minutes of the game, the Herd held a slight edge during the first half. Glen Trent started the scoring with a free toss that was followed by a goal from the floor by Smith. Cabot tied the count at five all when Marshall sank a field goal and took the lead by two points when Stephens tallied on a crisp shot.

With about five minutes left in the initial period, Albert Trent knotted the count at 9-9 with a field goal and took the lead a second later with a free toss. Cabot rallied as the period closed and, after Marshall took the lead with a crisp, went on to hold a 12 to 16 advantage as the counter ended.

The second half was entirely Cabot's as they held the Herd scoreless till late in the period while they piled up a good lead. The Bisons rallied late in the counter and began dropping in goals from every position, but their spurt came too late to benefit them.

Stephens, Cabot forward, led the individual scoring with twelve points made on four field goals and four free tosses. Smith, Bison's forward and center, played a stellar game for the Herd while counting for ten points to lead his team in scoring. He made all of his points on field goals.

The line-up:
Harding: Cabot:
A. Trent 5 Priest 2
Smith 10 Stephens 12
Forwards
Pryor 2 Marshall 6
Centers
Johnson 1 Jones 2
G. Trent 6 Garlington 5
Guards
Substitutes: Harding—Fesmire, Cabot—C. Garlington.

SPORTS GAZING

It's not a myth. According to physical education department statistics from several universities, the average freshman gets lighter and shorter every year. Tech Talk.

A man plays three years at a junior college and then transfers to a senior college, plays one year and is declared ineligible. This doesn't sound all right to us. We have nothing against the three-years-at-junior-college idea but it does appear to us that he should be allowed to compete in conference games until he has completed the other two years of his college education.—Mountain Eagle.

Wiping out stories of the major sports in this sport-minded country of ours, let's see what Jaycee has in the way of minor sports.

Fencing is the surprise of the college. Quite a large number are taking an active interest in it and they are learning great things under the able directions of Coach Ed Furhop.

Badminton, although not yet begun, is a game which takes every muscle of a player's body to play the game right. It is a miniature tennis game, which is played with small raquets and a cork-ball with feathers on it which guides it straight-forward.

Swimming has died out after making a good start. Coach Longstretch is still urging classes to meet, especially the men.

Manager Beasley Releases Bison's Schedule

The Bisons will meet the College of the Ozarks at Clarksville tomorrow in the first of their two game series for 1936. Last season the Herd split two games with the Mountaineers, dropping the first one at Clarksville by a 56 to 32 score and taking the second one at home by a 30 to 31 count.

The Bisons' schedule, as released by Manager Beasley, follows:

January 15—College of the Ozarks.....Clarksville
January 18—Arkansas State.....Here
January 23—American Bakery.....Little Rock
January 24—Ouachita College.....Arkadelphia
February 1—College of the Ozarks.....Here
February 4—Little Rock Junior College..Little Rock
February 7—Hendrix College.....Conway
February 8—Hendrix College.....Here
February 13—American Bakery.....Here

Under the direction of Mr. Elmer Stahlkopf the golf players are rapidly becoming interested in a college team. They are now practicing on the city courses with free passes, and a team will likely be formed next spring.

Sports not in the college which would go over big are shuffleboard layout could be placed on the rear grounds, while ping-pong tables could be placed in the men's locker room.

These new sports are for the purpose of rounding out a complete and unique recreational sports program in the college.—College Chatter.

"These are the times that try men's souls." Why doesn't somebody do something, like bombing the ad building or burning the dorm! Just do anything to cause some excitement. This lull between football and basketball season seems to be getting the best of most everyone.—The Optimist.

Forty American educators, presidents of colleges in 27 states, have joined in a request to the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and the American Olympic committee for withdrawal of American participation in the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin.

Announcement of the educators' stand was made by Frank Kingdon, president of Dana College, Newark. It was accompanied by a statement setting forth reasons for requesting American withdrawal and signed by the forty college presidents.

"It is our considered judgment," the statement says, "based upon the record of events that have transpired in Germany for the past two and a half years, that the inequalities and discrimination practiced against Jews, Catholics, Protestants, laborers, Masons, and all independents are perpetuated in the field of sports and in the Olympic games.—College Profile.

Harding Academy Defeats Guy Five

Behind the effective scoring of Bill Bell and Robert Yingling, the Harding Academy quintet won their first game of the '36 cage season from Guy High School by a 30 to 21 score Saturday night.

The game was fast and hard fought from start to finish with the Bisonettes holding the upper hand all through the contest.

Individual scoring honors went to Robert Yingling, who scored 12 points, and Bill Bell, who counted 10 points, both Harding forwards. They were closely followed by Gentry, of Guy, who totaled seven points.

The score at the half was 20 to 9 with the Bisonettes out in front. A brilliant last minute rally failed to net Guy the needed scores to top the substantial lead piled up by the Bisonettes in the first half.

HORN AND HOOF

By Gene Pace

The Southwest-ern Conference has been rather plain and outspoken in their inaguration of openly paying their athletes. And although they have brought a verbal storm of oratory from all quarters it is generally conceded that every conference in the United States will follow in their steps within a few years. Personally, I am in favor of paying athletes—not to play for a school, but to enable them to play. Many of the countries best athletes would find it impossible to attend college without help from some quarter. Is it not fitting that their Alma Mater should give them work when they give so much to that same institution? The work has to be done so why not let them do part of it? And since they are doing it, and have been doing it for a long time, why not be honest about the matter? The only college in the Southeastern Conference that voted against the plan was one that has been practicing the custom of giving their coach at least twenty-five scholarships every year! What were they for? The school of Philosophy?

One prominent college president made this remark: "The president (of a college) who says he does not know about it is pretty dumb, pretty sound asleep, or a pretty good liar. I believe a good student athlete earns all that he gets from these jobs. I see no harm in honest jobs for honest athletes." Neither do I and neither does any clear thinking man or woman interested in the advancement of honest athletics. Then why not some help for athletes at Harding? If it is being done every where else why not here. Athletics in Arkansas have made progress in the last few years that has left us a few steps behind, it seems to me. If other colleges are going out and getting athletes then we should too. We will never have anything more than a mediocre team if we don't. Do we need any better proof than our own record for the past few years to prove that we are not abreast of the times? Then why not do something about it? I say, why not go out and get the athletes before someone else does! We have degenerated—if that is the correct term—to such a degree that one of the state colleges would not send their first team over here for a game, but wanted to send their second team. Does that prove that we are keeping up?
